He is a vetta of Bright's discuse. This morning his relatives were telegraphed for.

A great deal of interest is felt here as to the probable action of the General Assembly in the matter of the proposition to convert the Central Asylum near this city into an asylum for while lunaties; in other words, to use the asylum at Williamsburg for the colored insane, and the Central for the whits. The latter building will be completed and ready for occupancy, it is said, by the 1-t of January. It is hearly perfect in all its arrangements and conveniences, and mast cligibly located in a healthy section. The white people, though they kave not publicly expressed them selver, are simost unanimously in favor of the change, while the colored people here are aimost as generally opposed to it.

When the Hustings Court met this morning Judge Mann asked if anything had been heard from the counsel of the State in the matter of the still against the Planters and Mochanica Bank. It was stated by hawyers present that while nothing definite was known by them as to the intentions of the State's counsel in the premises, yet it was believed that they would ask the court to hear the case at the present term—probably some day next week.

Their Rights Shall the Protected.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch).

ALBANT, M. Y., November 20,—Governor Cleveland was asked by an Associated Press reporter to-day if he was aware of the delusion existing among the colored p-ople of the South that a change in Administration would unfavorably affect their condition, to which he replied:

"Yes, I have been astonished at the statement that there was an apprehension existing among the colored people that in some way their rights now secured to them under the laws and Constitution of the United States were in danger from the election of a Democratic President. I am even told that some of them are led to suppose that the risult of the recent elections means that they may again be made slaves. All of this has appeared to me to be so absurd, and I have been so sure that the slightest intelligent reflection would disledge such foolish fears that I can hardly deem any notice of them necessary. But there is not the slightest objection the call-

But there is not the slightest objection to callthere is not the slightest objection to estl-ling the attention of all who are in the least uneasy or uncertain upon this subject to the fact that the title of the colored people to freedom and all the rights of citizen-ship connot be disturbed except by a change in the Constitution which it would be absolutely impossible to make. Besides, the present condition or status of these p-o-ple has been so fully accepted by the entire essential that no one should have the slight-est idea that any attempt will be made to country, that no one should have the slightest den that any attempt will be made to change it if there was any possibility of accomplishing such a thing. So for as the new Administration is related to this subject the whole country can be sure the lawful power and jurisdiction of Executive will be so exercised that the rights of all citizens, while or black, under the Constitution and laws will be preserved and protected, and all the advantages to which they are entitled by reason of their citizenship will be secured to them. (By usegraph to the Dispatch.)

New York, November 20,—Several thousands of people filed the Brooklyn Rink this evening for the purpose of jubilation upon the election of Cleveland and Hendricks, and to listen to speeches from the Vier-President-elect and from Rev. Hunry Ward Receiver at well. Some buildings in the vicinity of the Rink were filaminated with strings of vari-colored lanterns, and bunting was employed to attest the political sentiment of some near-by dwellers. At 7 o'clock a band took position on the front steps of the Rink. The doors were opened, and an hard an hour every sitting-place was occupied. Henches were brought in from the neighboring prayer-meeting room and were filted as fast as produced. The aisies rapidly filled, and the open space before the platform was promptly filled by ladies unable to find chairs. Shortly before 8 o'clock the band emered the building, and its place was supplied by pyriotechnics and burning far and soap barrels. The atmosphere, which otherwise was raw and inhospitable, became mellow and more endurable as it was warmed by the steadily-increasing hirong.

Lodies and Gentlemen: On this occasion of mutual congratulations you will permit me, will you not, to speak briefly of In-dama. [Cheers] Indiana sends greeling to the Democracy of New York, and very specially to the Democracy of Brooklyn and Kings county [cheers] and begs to assure them of her sympathy in the great cause in which they have fought together. Indiana and New York to-day Join hands, and it is to be regretted that it has to be over two great States—Pennsylvania and Ohlo. It is no slight matter to you men of New York—you people of the sea-share—that so York—you people of the sea-share—that so great a State as Indiana—so rich, so popu-ious, situated midway among the States—is firmly fixed in favor of the great principles of free Government and perpetual Union.
What shall I say of the general result after speaking of Indiana? Let me first finish about Indiana. She has elected Democratic electors of the President and Vine-President of the United States; she has chosen a Democratic Governor, nine congressmen out of thirtieen, a large majo-rity in each branch of the Legislature—un-usually brge—securing a return to the United States Senate of our faithful Danie W. Voornees; she has elected the entir State ticket and attached to the Democrati cause many counties of the State, so that the great State of Indiana to-day and fo the great State of Indiana to-day and for the future is Democratic.

I do not join you to-night for any purpose of rejoicing over the fall of our opponents. Enough to know they have fallen. (Laughter and cheers.) I join you to rejoice, not that their flag has been trailed in the dust, but that ours files in triumph over the land; not that they suffer the pangs of disappointment and defeat, but they we representatives of Democracy, polities of the people, are successful. This is no ordinary triumph. It is specially great. We have overcome, not only the voters that opposed us in politics, but we have overcome the influence and powers of the largest official organization almost ever overcome the influence and posterior street in the world. A hundred and twenty regiments of office-holders have been in the field in this political contest, and they too, have not been sufficient to and they, too, have not been sufficient to carry the day in favor of their party. I relete with you, my countrymen of Brooklyn, because a party has come into power at last in favor of a people's governsolit of a lump wager made some time ago by chafain J. F. Lonz, of the Staminon Artillers, and Mr. Andrews, of the recome office. The party which tost was to fair ussh the powder and first the sainted in long or of the victory of the party which won. So it turned out that the Andrews, the publican, marched up on Search Hall and publican, marched up on Search Hall and the publican of the victory of the party which won. So it turned out that the Andrews did your manner of the victory of the party which won. So it turned out that the Democratic grane of the governments of some office of the Allows and Louisian in 1877. The South true made solid was a control of the party which the procession of the governments of the control of the party which the procession of the governments of the party which the procession of the governments of the party which the procession of the governments of the party which the procession of the governments of the party which the procession of the governments of the party which the procession of the governments of the party street of the party three days and the political of the party street of the procession of the governments of the governm

I bearbon party—aye. I accept the mane. It was a French name given to that race who fought for right. I thank the Independent Republican party, and those of the ministry, of the bar, of the great professions who have stood by our side in the hour of trial. I knew year efter year that the old truth which has been written "that truth is mighty and must prevail" would prevail. Yes, truth has prevailed. I will repeat it, it has prevailed. The propole of the has been written "that truth is whighly and must prevail." Would neveal, Yes, truth has prevailed. tors; that there shall be me longer any inability to cerry the mails across the country without loss to the public treasury (cheers); so that there soall be housely in all the departments of the Government. Do you ask me if I am in favor of civil-service reform? Of course I am in favor of civil-service reform, I am not in favor of the continuation of so many thiogs that we have seen In some years that are past. The people are thred of it, and they want a change. Do you desire to know what civil-service reform I have confidence in? I am very free to say to you people to-night that I am not particularly confident of success after a schoolmaster's examination, but I will tell you what I have confidence in. As it was in the days of Andrew Jackson, let a rue man come to be President of the United States, and let true men be called around blue to aid blue in the public service, and jet these men resolve that the only test of qualification for office under them shall be honesty and fitness for service, and you have civil-service reform. [Cheers.]

WHAINGTON, N. C., November 20.— A grand demonstration was held here to night in honor of the el ction of Cleveland and Hendricks. The city was alive with enthusiasm and bands of music The illuminations were general and the decorations profuse. The erows was formuse. A large procession paraded the streets, and there were speeches and a display of fireworks. Colonel John N. Staples, Democratic elector for the State at large, in his address to might spoke of the toyalty of the South to the Union, as it is with all the constitutional amendments. "The soldiers of the South," he said, "stand ready to-day to shed their blood and lay down their lives for the perpetuity of this Union and the honor of its flag, and should the time ever come that the constitutional rights of the black man should become endangered, my word for it the people of the South will be found among their strongest advocates and defenders." There is but one vacancy in the grade There is but one vacancy in the grade of second fleutenant in the army, and it has existed stace last summer, when the President made aftern appointments to that grade from civil life. There were sixteen vacancies, but one of them was not filled. A strong effort has been made by the friends of Sergeant Bramard, who achieved such an enviable reputation in the Greely expedition, to have him appointed to the existing vacancy as a reward for his good service and gallantry in the Arctic regions. Thus far the plan has been unsuccessful for the research of its reported that the Presidents service and gallantry in the Arctic regions. Thus far the plan has been unsuccessful for the reason, it is reported, that the President has promised the position to some one else. Rumor has it that the voting man who expects to don the United States army uniform is the son of General Picketi, of the Confederale army, and that the fact that he is not yet of age, but will be before the 4th of March next, accounts for the delay in making the appointment. In the meantime, General Hazen and other triends of Brainard, are doing all in their power to Brainard, are doing all in their power secure the position for him.
